

About the Photographer/ About Us Examples

Bauman Photographers is a young studio with an experienced and professional style. To create the perfect images, your photographer needs to truly understand light, composition and have a developed sense of artistic vision.

We believe that Customer service and relationship are just as important as the photographs. You deserve our attention, and we are in our studio full time and always available to discuss your event, our photography style, or the latest YouTube video.

We believe...

Every client is unique and we are ready to customize anything to match your needs specifically.

Every interaction you have with your photographer should be positive.

Your photographer should love their job.

Weddings are full of an array of emotions and your pictures should show it.

We believe your friends and family should have the ability to view and order images with ease. We post all of your images online and release them to your wedding guests so you don't have to.

It is our job to get the word out about your images. We'll handle it.

Your photographs should turn heads. Twice.

Your photographers' personality should connect with yours.

Wedding photography is a funny thing, it has as much to do with personality and personal relationships as it does artistic talent. Assuming the photography skills are stellar, it is often the relationships that define great wedding photography. To describe the brides and grooms that hire me is to describe myself: relaxed and easy-going but kind of picky about what we like, particularly when it comes to the details. We look forward to spending time with our close friends and family and love to share our discoveries of great music, art, food, wine and travel with them as well. An impromptu party is never too far off.

The wedding day is a time to celebrate, relax and enjoy the fun. It is a time to express ourselves. We prefer to have photos that capture the day as it really looked vs. spend hours on posed photos. (Of course we must do some family photos but not too many.) We want images that capture the inner person we know our friends and family to be, not just their "photo faces." We want a photographer that understands we aren't used to being photographed and don't know what to do when that giant lens is pointed our way but can make us feel comfortable anyway.

I invite you to take another look at the photography here and if you love it then call me so I can get to know you better! This is all about finding the perfect fit for us both. Can't wait to chat!

Coast Highway Photography

Coast Highway Photography is a North San Diego County, California portrait and wedding studio available for assignments worldwide. Having photographed weddings and portraits from England to Mexico, the Carolinas to the Keys, and Sonoma to San Diego, we'll make your photography the most beautiful you've ever seen. Coast Highway Photography has also been recognized nationally and internationally for fine art portraiture. Kevin M. Connors, owner, has spent years perfecting the printing of images on fine art watercolor, parchment, and linen papers to create truly stunning prints up to sixty inches and larger that will be enjoyed by you and your family for centuries.

I have always loved taking pictures and having photographs to document special times and moments in my life. Once I became a mother, I knew that I wanted to take this passion to another level and learn to take really great pictures. My desire to capture memories in a way that would portray the feeling and emotion in the moment, led me to where I am today.

I've been blessed with a wonderful gift of capturing some of people's most memorable moments in Life.

I'm a mom, a wife, a sister and a daughter. I'm from a family of four girls the oldest of them the only one that followed more in our father's footsteps. But I lost him to cancer Dec 2006, it has taught me more than I could of ever imagined and made my gift of photography such a blessing to have those last months of my dad's life captured forever on film. I love how I can look at a photo and feel so much it takes you right back to that moment!

Jonathan Fennell is a professional sports and commercial photographer. He is known for freezing action with dramatic light from unique angles and has accomplished this for a variety of sports publications and merchandising companies. A comfortable and confident photographer, Jonathan can use existing natural light or implement off camera lighting to make his subject "POP" from their background. He always strives to find unique angles and looks to capture moments in time that are lost in the blink of an eye. Due to his love and participation in many of the sports he photographs, it allows him to find unique angles and insight on what to anticipate might happen next in the action. Being efficient and professional comes from his desire to work hard. Clients who work with Jonathan for their sports photography and portraits of their athletes have confidence because of the creativity and quality that he produces. Action sports are his specialty and take him on location for various clients.

Jeremy Myers has been shooting photography since 1994, when it became his goal to become a professional photographer. At that time, Jeremy began shooting sports for small newspaper presses. Today, Jeremy freelances as a multi-faceted photographer, shooting a range from sports, portraits, model, events, weddings, nature, landscapes, and wildlife/nature.
